

Welcome to the first issue of the "Dunn Diggers." My schedule has allowed me to begin publication in March, rather than May as announced earlier. The newsletter will be a bi-monthly, issued on the 3rd Monday of Mar, May, Jul, Sept, Nov 2002. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you for joining and hope this newsletter will be another tool to aid in your research of the Dunn surname.

Records presented in this newsletter will be from a variety of sources and need to be checked independently for accuracy. A majority of the census records will be extracted from the original microfilm. Should you have questions regarding a source published in the newsletter, or corrections, or suggestions, please let me know.

Other agenda items: 1) An outline of topics planned for future "Dunn Diggers" issues will be forthcoming. 3) Two ongoing newsletter features will be, "Help Line," (for those who deadlocked in the research or don't know where to begin) and "Family Line" (for those who would like to share their Dunn ancestry with other readers) -- If you need assistance with your reseach, we can't help, if you don't tell us!!

In honor of St. Patrick's Day and the Irish who surely must be the champion of proverbs - "Patience is a plaster for all sores;" and "Don't let you tongue cut your throat."

Quote of the Month:

"A family is but too often a commonwealth of malignants." Alexander Pope, "Thoughts on Various Subjects," 1717

54. Some Dunn Places in Alabama

The U. S. Geological Survey (USGS) GNIS site on the Internet lists a number of cities, park, rivers, schools, etc., bearing the ancestral names of Dunn. It's been my experience that often those "place names" can be viewed as one more tool in pinpointing specific areas where individuals or families may have settled throughout the U. S. In addition to the USGS GNIS site, the "American Genealogical Gazetteer" offers similar information. Dunn place names are listed below along with their location on the USGS 7.5' map. For latitude and longitude data, please contact your editor. More Dunn places will be published in next month's newsletter.
